VIRTUAL FINANCIAL FORECAST

JANUARY 13, 2022

The Arkansas Bankers Association and the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce are teaming up to host this must-attend Virtual Financial Forecast. How have our industries, cities and downtowns, the economy, consumer spending, the workforce, and more been impacted over the last year? We will look at developing economic trends and early patterns to predict how Arkansas's and the country's economy will fare in 2022.

Register and join dozens of influential leaders and members of the business and financial communities at the beginning of the year to learn what lies ahead for the state and national economies. Let's identify how we can work together to continue to grow and strengthen Arkansas's economy in 2022 and beyond.

AGENDA

- 10:00 a.m. Welcome
- 10:05 a.m. An Arkansas Forecast
Dr. Michael Pakko, Arkansas Economic Development Institute
- 10:30 a.m. A National Forecast
Tyler Mondres, American Bankers Association
- 11:00 a.m. Adjournment

About the Instructors

Tyler Mondres is the Senior Manager of Research for the Office of the Chief Economist with the American Bankers Association. In this role, he directs research priorities in support of ABA's policy objectives. Prior to this role, he was a Research Specialist that assisted the emerging technologies team with educating banks and policy makers about trends and issues associated with innovation in banking.

Michael Pakko is Chief Economist and State Economic Forecaster at the Arkansas Economic Development Institute at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock. In addition to his research and forecasting responsibilities at AEDI, Dr. Pakko is an adjunct professor at the UALR College of Business and he maintains the Arkansas Economist website.
